the general hubbub in the corridors of the hotels.

As fast as the delegates arrived Monday they sought the Lindell and there for hours a noisy argument was waged.

While the leaders of the party were in conference upstairs in private parlors the delegates held a free-for-all talk in the corridors below.

A delegate from Oklahoma came near precipitating a general row among "Middle-of-the-Road" shouters.

He joined a group where the man with the loudest voice was selling why Bryan should not be indorsed.

"Every man who talks that way," semarked the Oklahoma delegate, in a lold voice, "is either a goldbug in disguise or in the employ of Mark Hanna. No man who is for free silver will talk that way."

In the crush that followed he got our and up the stairs into Oklahoma's Bryan headquarters.

But the sting of his remarks was left.

In the crush that followed he got out and up the stairs into Oklahoma's Bryan headquarters.

But the sting of his remarks was left with the shouters.

It has come to be conceded among delegates that a majority of those who shout for a "Middle of the Road" ticket have been Mark Hannaized.

He has cut the strings of his mole-skin and "sound money" is clinking in the pockets of the anti-Bryan shouters.

The general knowledge of this renders ineffective the pleas which "Middle of the Road" men are sending up in a stentorian refrain.

When the Bryan men discovered how the Missourians stood a number of delegates were sent to them to show them how futile was their course in holding out against free silver and its Nebraska champion.

The Illinois delegates, who are already here, and who have been under the watchful eye of Chairman Taubeneck, were also looked after.

They held an informal conference, at which nothing definite was done, and then the Bryan men began their proselyting. As a result of their labors Monday, it is doubtful whether Taubeneck can hold she State in line.

His course is regarded with suspicion since his mysterious trip to Chicago, where he tried to arrange for a bolters' conven-

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

It Will Leave the Question of Organization to the National Body.

The National Executive Committee of the Populists met Monday forenoon in the ladies' parlor at the Lindell Hotel. Chairman Taubeneck and Secretary Tur-ner of Washington City announced that the only business to be conducted was that relating to final arrangements for the convention.

It was given out by Secretary Turner that the Executive Committee would make no recommendations to the National Committee as to temporary offlicers.

That puts the burden on the National Committee. As a majority of the National Committee is said to be for Bryan, it is practically settled that no "middle of the road" man will preside, either as temporary or permanent chairman, unless the anti-Bryan men make their peace and surrender before the convention meets.

The boom for Senator Allen of Nebraska for permanent chairman was promtply discountenanced Monday when the big Nebraska delegation arrived.

It wants Senator Allen to take charge of the Bryan forces on the floor, and to conduct the campaign for the "Silver Knight of the West."

Gen. J. B. Weaver of Iowa, one of the most enthusiastic Bryan men in the convention, may be chosen both temporary and permanent chairman, if he will accept.

SOUTHERNERS WEAKENING. Opposition to Bryan Giving Way as the Delegates Arrive. The Populist delegates from the Southern States now opposed to William J. Bryan are likely to be solid for him by the time the convention opens.

Monday morning a tentative proposition was submitted to the Southern "Middle of the Road" leaders by the Bryan majority wing, which is likely to be accepted.

It opens a way for Senator Butler, Chairman Taubeneck, "Cyclone" Davis and others to extricate themselves from a very deep oit.

Its chief provision is that the South shall join in the nomination of Bryan; that the different States in the South shall work since his mysterious trip to Chicago, where he tried to arrange for a bolicers' convention.

The Illinois Populists are preparing to repudiate his self-assumed leadership and join with the Bryan majority.

Part of the delegazon from Massachusetts arrived Monday. Its members are divided. Probably one-half are for Bryan, while the others are following National Committeeman George F. Washburn, who is a friend of Taubeneck.

Utah and Colorado had accessions to their advance guard.

The Kansas delegation also arrived, and with them came 200 Nebraskans, headed by Senator W. V. Allen. Every man is for Bryan. They are all workers.

Sam Stewart of California, who came in advance of the State delegation, was a "Middle of the Road" man early in the day. By noon he saw the drift of things, and by Tuesday he will join his State in whooping it up for Bryan.

Virginia's advance guard came in Monday. It will probably make a big break in the Solid South, as its leaders are for Butler just before the conference, strongly in the Bryan men devoted their missionary work to States where there is open heatility to Bryan, based on Mark Hanna grounds.

Senator Butler, however, is considering the matter. If he gives way, the backbone of the "Middle of the Road" wing will be broken, and he is almost certain to yield.

left in St. Louis, and he may cenclude to go to Springfield to-night er to-morrow. His movements depend upon the nature of the reports wired him from the scene of battle by his campaign manager, William Flewellyn Saunders, who reached Springfield Sunday morning and at once flung the Walbridge banner to the breeze The Mayor would like to remain at home The Mayor would like to remain at home and let the nomination for Governor come to him. This would please his sense of dignity better. But Cyrus P. is not the kind of statesman who believes in permitting his sense of dignity to stand between him and a good thing, and if he sees that the gubernatorial nomination gets balky and shows a stubborn disposition to stand still at Springfield it is safe to wager that he will take a fast train for the convention city as soon as he makes the discovery. Uncle Filley permitted the report that he was going to start to Springfield Sunday night to break through the trocha of the Mosque Saturday and everybody expected him to leave St. Louis on the train that hauled the private car of Col. Dick Kerens. The Colonel had a joily party of well-dressed and well-groomed friends in his car, which was pulled out of Union Station at 9 o'clock Sunday night by the regular Frisco train, but Uncle Filley was nowhere to be seen around the station.

At the last minute word was brought from the Mosque that "De Ole Man" had postponed his departure till Monday morning. He prefers to travel by day, it is explained, as he can't sleep well in a railroad coach at night, and as his State Committee

At the last minute word was brought from the Mosque that "De Ole Man" had postponed his departure till Monday morning. He prefers to travel by day, it is explained, as he can't sleep well in a railroad coach at night, and as his State Committee doesn't meet until Tuesday morning there is no necessity for his presence at Springfield before that date.

He was accompanied on his trip to-day by about twenty of his local strikers, chief among whom were Mark Chartrand and Julius Wurzburger.

The same train carried about fifty delegates and visitors from North Missouri. None of them would talk about what they intended to do on the Governorship at Springfield, though the fact that many of them seemed specially delighted at the prospect of traveling down to the convention city with Boss Filley indicates plainly their willingness for him to run things pretty much as he pleases.

About 200 St. Louisans, including a majority of the St. Louis delegation, went out on the train Sunday night, and reached Springfield for early breakfast this morning. Mest of them are Filleyites, and went ahead of "De Ole Man" so as to watch the movements of the enemy until he gets there to take personal charge of his forces and direction of his fight for Lewis for Governor.

Both of to-night's trains on the 'Frisco will go loaded to the guards with local Filleyites. At least 100 members of the Merchants' League Club, including President John A. Taity, will be in the paffees. The club marching corps will be heavily represented, and as soon as this organization reaches Springfield the fight on Walbridge will be begun in earnest. This will doubtless cause Manager Saunders to summon the Mayor to Springfield at once.

B. Cahoon, the Kerens candidate for Governor, is already on the ground, and has opened headquarters in the principal hotel of Springfield. He left St. Louis Saturday night, having at the last moment, and for obvious reasons, declined the invitation of Col. Kerens to go in his private car. Had Cahoon gone to Springfield with the Kerens party, as he at first agreed to do, the Filleyites would have had the best of excuses to openly oppose him. The meeting of Uncle Filley's State Committee to-morrow will have about the same problems to deal with as it had at St. Joseph.

This building is the Baldwin Theater, with a seating capacity of less than 2,000, so that if the Kerensites at Springfield are given the 1,000 %ckets demanded Uncle Filley will have precious few seats left for his friends after the delegates are seated.

At St. Joseph he flatly refused the demand of the local committee, and it goes without saying that he will do the same thing at Springfield.

Whether or not the Springfieldians will carry out their threat to not allow the convention to be held in the Baldwin Theater, if they don't get the full number of ticks demanded, remains to be seen.

A great deal of gossip has been going on about the Baldwin Theater, where the Republican Convention meets. Several weeks ago the Filley men began a deal to rent the house the night before the convention. It was thought that it was to be a St. Joe scheme over again and that the house would be packed. However, nothing more was said about the matter, and to-day representatives of the State Committee rented the house for the night before the convention, paying $50 for it. Receiver H. S. Jowell of the Baldwin drew up a contract in making the deal whereby it was agreed that the house was not to be used at all and that it was to be delivered promptly to the State Committee when demanded. As the property is in the hands of a Federal receiver Marshals can enforce the contract if necessary. It is not likely now that there will be any squabble for the hall.

R. C. Kerens has arrived in a private car. Most of the visitors to-night will listen to an address by R. P. Bland.

J. B. Upton, B. B. Cahoon, J. P. O'Bannon and William Warner were among the early arrivals. Dr. Pettijohn's friends opened headquarters at the Denton, but he will not arrive until to-morrow.

The General's identity was unknown to the majority of the throng that peopled the hottel lobby, and hence he attracted little notice from the multitude.

When a Post-Dispatch reporter asked him what course he would advocate in the convention he produced one of his printed slips, saying it embodied his views.

The General's plan, briefly stated, is to pro-rate the electoral votes of the State between the Democratic, Prohibition and People's parties, giving each party representation on the electoral ticket. After the election electors shall meet in each State and reapportion the votes of the State head of the State ticket. Tammany to Lead With Ratification and a Prediction That the State Convention Will Follow.

NEW YORK. July 20.—The declaration of William C. Whitney that he would under no circumstances support the Democratic ticket nominated at Chicago has fallen flat in New York. So has the gratuitous advice of Chairman Hinckley to the Democrats shat they should not commit themselves until the action of the State convention should their sails accordingly. Even Senator Hill, who has been so persistently silent since his return from Chicago, has at last spoken by proxy and his voice is not for a boit. Ex-Comptroller Frank Campbell spent Sunday with Senator Hill at Normandie-by-the-Sea and talked freely afterward. He said:

"The Democrats of New York are looking to Senator Hill for advice and guidance in this campaign—not to Wall street. Country Democrats believe in him, as they know that he is not controlled by corporate interest, but is in sympathy with the average Democrat."

Mr. Campbell added that the Senator would frame a platform to be adopted at the State Convention in New York which will satisfy the party in the State and in the country at large. Bryan and Sewall, he says, will be supported by the Democrats of the Empire State.

Mr. Campbell further said:

"The silver question is new to a majority of the people of New York. It is useless to disguise the fact that a condition of affairs exists in this country which show anything but prosperity among the masses, Within the last four years farm lands have greatly depreciated in value, the value of farm products have been practically cut in two; 90 per cent of the farms in New York are incumbered, and, in the majority of cases, if the mortgages should be foreclosed the holder of the mortgages would be obliged to take the farm for his debt. The majority of the people of the country have come to the conclusion that something is radically wrong with our financial policy, and they are the sufferers. They do not believe that a reconstrution of the tariff schedules alone will remedy the evil. Whether the free coinage of silver will remedy this condition is hard to say. But the silver men are telling the farmers that it will."

A meeting of the Executive Committee of Tammanny Hall has been called for Tuesday to arrange for the ratification of the nomination of Bryan and Sewali. Action by the Tammanny braves has been hastened by the enthusiasm of the rank and file for the ticket. Leader Sheehan found, after Henry D. Purroy and Congressman Sulzer had indorsed the Democratic candidates in their districts, that the Tammanny men generally resented Chairman Hinckley's plea for delay, pending the meeting of the State Convention, and to check a rebellion the Executive Committee has been summoned to a conference.

Congressman Sulzer said that his Bryan and Sewall Club would start off, to-morrow night, with a membership ranging well up in the hundreds.

"Tammanny," said Mr. Sulzer, "will indorse he hundreds. ammany," said Mr. Sulzer, "will indorse nominations, and so will the State Cone nominations, and so will the State Connition.

The National Convention at Chicago was fruly Democratic Convention, representate of every part and portion of the county. There was no revolutionary feature it. The majority ruled and nominated e best men without dictation from any sit, monopoly or syndicate. Mr. Bryan an honest, fearless, able and consciences man, and will make one of the best esidents the country has ever had. It know he will sweep the West and uth, and I believe that if he is loyally pported in the East he will carry New rk City, Mr. Bryan will, in my opinion, t 100,000 more votes than McKinley."

James Creelman, writing from Nebraska to the World here, gives some interesting facts about William J. Bryan, making the point that he has always refused to be a corporation lawyer. Mr. Creelman says:

"William J. Bryan has never at any time in his life earned more than $5,500 a year. When he reached this figure, $5,000 consisted of his salary as a member of the House of Representatives. His income as a lawof Representatives. His income as a law-yer has averaged about $1,000 a year, al-though he has managed to increase it to $1,500. His salary as a political editor of the Omaha World-Heruld was $1,800 a year. "To-day his whole wealth hardly amounts to $8,000, and yet he is a mature, highly trained man, with thousands of friends and a national reputation as an orator. But his trained man, with thousands of friends and a national reputation as an orator. But his easy contempt for money, his aversion to the advocacy of corporation interests and his absorbing passion for speech-making have prevented him from acquiring wealth. "When he left Congress he was offered a salary of $10,000 a year for his services as general attorney of a railway and oil enterprise owned by the Standard Oil Company. His answer was that he would not take the position for all the profits of the company.

ake the position for all the profits of the company.

"A few days later he mentioned the fact to his present partner.

"You have made a great mistake, Bryan, said Mr. Talbot. 'Tell them you have a partner who is not so sensitive.'

"Mr. Bryan falled to see the point. 'I'd rather take cases I am in sympathy with and live as I do now than be president of the Standard Oil Company,' he replied.

Mr. Creelman finds that the Democrats have the right idea as to the enforcement of the anti-trust laws, testifies to Mr. Bryan's high character as a man and a citzen, and concludes his article with the assurance that the young Nebraskan's character is stainiess.

Judge Curtis' Opinion of Mr. Bryan's Prospects.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, July 20.—Ex-Judge Geo. M. Curtis has offered his services on the stump to William Jennings Bryan, and predicts to William Jennings Bryan, and predicts that the Nebraska nominee will be elected.

"Bryan will have the electoral vote of the solid South." he said yesterday, "and I expect he will have the solid West, too, although I admit that there will be a hot fight in Ohio. Indiana will be in the Democratic column, and Maryland is also pretty certain to swing into line. Give McKinley the solid East, and what good will that do him?

"I do not see how Bryan can be beaten, He is practically elected now."

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., July 20 .- The California Socialist Labor Convention has adopted a platform protesting against the such action would be class legislation, inasmuch as that it would benefit the debtor class at the expense of capitalists. The platform declares that free silver would not benefit laboring men, as wage earners, it is said, are not as a rule debtors.

A Bryan Club Organized With Bright Taubeneck's Friends Deny That He Went to Chicago to Arrange for Bolters' Convention.

Special telegrams from Chicago to local morning papers Sunday related that Chair-man Taubeneck's somewhat mysterious visit to Chicago last week was for the purpose of arranging for a second Populist National Convention in the event of the convention at St. Louis this week indors-convention at St. Louis this week indorsing Bryan and Sewall.

The dispatches went so far as to state that Chairman Taubeneck had held a consultation with some of the principal hotel men of Chicago, and had induced them to subscribe a fund of $1,500 to entertain Mr. Taubeneck's proposed convention of bolters. Diligent efforts were made by Post-Dispatch reporters Monday to interview Mr. Taubeneck on this Chicago story, but he was not accessible.

All the Populists spoken to on the subject denounced it as a lie.

"Cyclone" Davis of Texas, a member of the antional Committee, tumed mightily when it was mentioned to him.

"That's as big a lie as the one they are telling on me, to the effect that I sneaked away from St. Louis the other day and went out to Nebraska to see Bryan," said Col. Davis.

"I was in conference with Taubeneck less than an hour ago and casually mentioned the Chicago fake to him. He said it was too absurd and contemptible to be noticed." "As a matter of fact Taubeneck's sole it was too absurd and contemptible to be noticed:

"As a matter of fact Taubeneck's sole mission to Chicago was to straighten out the differences between the party leaders there. They are going to bring contesting delegations to St. Louis and he wanted to stop this if he could."

Secretary J. H. Turner of the National Committee said: "Of course it's a lie, and a mean, dirty one. Taubeneck has done nothing of the kind and nobody is even thinking of a second convention. Besides, there's soing to be no bolt here."

Plan of a Massachusetts Populist Indorse Only Half of the Democratic Ticket.

E B. Washburn, Populist national committeeman from Massachusetts, is back from his visit to William Jennings Bryan at the latter's home in Lincoln, Neb.

Mr. Washburn went to see Mr. Bryan to talk over the situation with him, prior to the meeting of the Populist Convention.

Just what demands or requests he made are not known, but a friend of Mr. Bryan's who was in Lincoln at the time, and is now here, states that Mr. Washburn's face was not wreathed in smiles when he left Mr. Bryan's presence. It is said that Mr. Bryan's presence. It is said that Mr. Bryan's was quite frank, and, while cordially welcoming Mr. Washburn, gave him to understand that he had been nominated at Chicage without making either a written or oral pledge of any description; that his record was an open book, and that he stood on it, and did not discuss the details of his interview with Mr. Bryan. He said, however, it was pleasant, and that he found the young leader buoyant with hope and full of confidence in the good judgment and courage of the people to vindicate their cause.

Aske for his opinion on the outcome of the convention, Mr. Washburn said: "The South is bitterly opposed to indorsing Bryan and Sewall, and the West and Northwest so determined to have it, that in the interest of harmony and our party organization it is evident we must find some middle ground.

"Neither section is anxious about Sewall.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

STOCKTON, Mo., July 20.—A large and enthusiastic number of Democrats met here Saturday and organized a Bryan silver club. The assembly was addressed by Hon. E. C. Crow of Jasper County, candidate for Attorney-General. The delegates from this county will be instructed for Judge Crow for Attorney-General. The outlook for the success of the Democratic ticket in this county was never brighter than now. The Populist party of this county will support Bryan regardless of the action of their party at St. Louis.

MESSAGE FROM BRYAN

Brought to Senator Jones by Matthew Ward of Omaha.

Matthew Ward of Omaha, delegate to he Silver Convention, who went Saturday to confer with Mr. Bryan at Lincoln, re-turned to St. Louis Sunday night. To a Post-Dispatch reporter Mr. Ward

"The interview with me in a morning paper is incorrect. I had no such interview, but happened to be present when the reporter was talking to Secretary Keeney. I am not authorized to speak for Mr. Bryan. Even if I was I would not have talked so recklessly as I am quoted, for that would be misrepresenting Mr. Bryan. "I did bring a message from Mr. Bryan to Senator Jones, chairman of the Democratic National Committee. I am not at liberty to discuss the contents of that communication, and if one word of it is given to the public it will have to be through Senator Jones or Mr. Bryan.

"I will say further that Senator Jones and members of his committee are alone able to speak for Mr. Bryan here, and they may be relied upon to do so satisfactorily to him.
"I found Mr. Bryan in most excellent spirits, but he has a car load of letters, telegrams, etc., to go through with that will work him night and day, even if he were not interrupted by callers. They come and go all day long, and he is the busiest man I ever saw."

The craft will probably push into the region of icebergs before its return. Unless orders are received to the contrary, the millionaire owner and his family will be taken on board to-day, and the Atalanta will starf for the Bay of Fundy.

The extent of the cruise will be determined by the nature of the difficulties encountered. Asjde from his interest in the rorthern regions, Mr. Gould rather enjoys the element of danger incurred.

The women members of the party will not accompany Mr. Gould further than Halifax. After Halifax has been visited, and if it is deemed safe, the Atalanta may so to the Bras d'Or Lakes.

The question called out strong objections Saturday from the attorneys for the defense, and when Commissioner Lubke, ruled that the question could be answered it was time to adjourn.

Mr. Edwards' question Monday varied slightly from that of Saturday. It was as follows:

"Please give the names of some of the livestors in the stock transactions with Delmont and yourself?"

This brought out objections anew from Attorneys Campbell, Taylor and Mudd, and extended arguments of a technical character were entered into.

During the discussion Bown, who had been recalled to the stand as soon as the proceedings were resumed at 11 o'clock, sat with his hands clasped and elbows resting on the arms of his chair. He did not have so long a slege before him as he underwent Saturday, because before the examination was begun it had been decided to adjourn at 1 o'clock until 11 o'clock Friday morning.

"They were the names of persons in other transactions." "From what persons have you received money for Delmont to invest, as was done in the case of parties at the Mercantile Club?" in the case of parties at the Mercantile Club?"

An objection to this caused Judge Lubke to state that the evidence showed Delmont had a brokerage office at his home, and was known as a broker. Therefore it was not allowable to show with what persons he had dealings, outside of the matter at issue. Whoever was connected with that might be held liable, but no other names must be developed.

The question went unanswered. "Did you not state," resumed Mr. Edwards, that other persons contributed funds to be used by Delmont under the same terms as those of the Mercantile Club arrangement?"

"It is a fact, is it not?"

"Were you in the plaintiff's office when Delmont arranged for the purchase of these stocks?"

"I was. I do not remember what instructions were given by Mr. Delmont. He did not tell me his intention before he placed the order."

"Did you state Saturday that E. B. Smith said there were other transactions?"

"I think that is what Smith said."

"Did you hear Delmont state in Chicago at the Great Northern Hotel, that he would not sign a statement that the transactions with Edwards & Sons were a transfer of a pool account; because it was not a transfer of the entire pool account?"

"I do not remember. I will say that he did not make that statement in my presence."

At this point the proceeding was adjourned until Friday morning at 11 o'clock, when Bown will again take the stand.

They practically abandoned their demand for an independent ticket and agreed to vote for Bryan's nomination, provided the Bryan men would let the convention name a candidate for Vice-President in place of Sewall, the Democratic candidate. That was the only concession they demanded. It was expected that they will abandon this by Tuesday and be among those working for the nomination of Bryan and Sewall.

Ex-Congressman Jerry Simpson of Kansas was one of the early arrivals at Bryan headquarters Monday.

NEBRASKA'S BADGE.

It is a Beauty and Bears the Bryan Motto.

The Nebraska delegates are easily distinguished by the characteristic badge they wear pinned to the lapels of their coats. The badges are about 10 inches long, of blue satin, 3 inches wide, and in the center is a finely executed picture of Bryan on a cream-colored background. Underneath the picture, in silver letters, are inscribed the following words: "No crown of thorns; no cross of gold." A handsome silver fringe gives a neat finish to the badge.

The Peopole's party is pre-emimently worthy of the people's confidence and support. The people set is not far the proposition of Mr. Taubeneck that whenever one party indoreses the national ticket of another, it has 'no further use to exist,' it wholly without precedent to sustain it; whenly without precedent to sustain it. The Chairman's logic is simply this: The restoration of Mr. Taubened that the proposition of Mr. Taubened the whenly without precedent is whenly without prece where fusion has been made with the Republican gold standard party for the sake of local spoils their plans may be somewhat marred, but no true Populist can be any less a Populist through such action, and it can cause no Populist candidate to lose a vote.

"Why should the Populist press disappear if Bryan is nominated? The proposed action, if taken by the Populist Convention, will add strength and influence to every Populist paper in the land. The Populist party press will then stand for principle indeed, and as a grateful and discriminating American people are brought to understand the patriotic action taken for their stand the patriotic action taken for their their property. The party pees will prove in favor and measure of prosperty.

"It is true, that should the Democratic party be successful, the Populists might not be in a position to demand appointments to office from President Bryan. But who can doubt his sense of justice and, recognition of obligation for patriotic duty well done by the members of the People's party? "Grant that the Democratic party will not be likely to provide for paper money that is not redeemable in coin; but Mr. Taubeneck is mistaken in his claim that routside of free coinage of silver, all other reforms advocated by the formation of other support. If he will re-read the Omaha platform and compare it line for line with the platform upon which Mr. Bryan was nominated, he will find that the latter makes solemn pledges to the country of every reform advocated in the former, except figt paper money, Government ownership of railroads and the subtreasury scheme, which latter measure the Omaha platform itself discredited.

"The claim of Mr. Taubeneck that the Populists party should be an ally and nor an annex of the Democratic party is an incidence of the party, coupled with the plain assurances which its leaders have that the Populists and free coinage Republicans will flock to Bryan and Sewail by hundreds of thousands, whatever the Populist National Convention may do, it may be considered out of the question that the Democratic party, having already nominated its candidates and adopted its platform, will make the copinate of the States and will also be in a position to demand an equal share of the surface of the Consideration of an ew pl

It is great, and magnanimous, and patriotic enough to go outside of its own ranks for a presidential candidate; for one who, though not a Populist in name, is in deepest sympathy with it for its most cherished and vital measures to remove a great and blighting curse from the country.

"Why will the nomination of Bryan and Sewall by the Populist Convention render it impossible for Fopulists to make a fight for their local tickets, as Mr. Taubeneck claims? Where they are running Populist tickets without fusion with either party the nomination of Bryan and Sewall by their National Convention must strengthen them with the people. It is true that in States

"They under the single gold standard. What they want and will have if the opportunity presents itself are practical results that will favorably affect their industrial and social condition. They want the single gold standard are abolished and the double standard created. The Populist press inculcated a great truth when it taught them to believe that free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1 with gold would drive gloom and destitution from the country and replace them with sunshine and prosperity. If Populists have reason to believe that their party will endanger that measure either by dividing the forces that favor it or by imposing impossible or impracticable conditions to secure its assistance for it, they will abandon that party without regret, and enthusiastically unite with the party which they believe is most likely to secure them the relief.

"The Populist Convention will seal the doom of the party if by its action it arouses a well-grounded suspicion that it prefers party autonomy to the legislation for which the masses are in such crying eneed.

"Why should either course operate differently in Texas or North Carolina from for which the masses are in such crying need.

"Why should either course operate differently in Texas or North Carolina from what it would in Nebraska or Colorado? There are 89,000 Populist votes in Colorado. If the coming convention shall nominate a separate ticket at least 70,000 of them will in any event be cast for Bryan, and the probabilities are that, feeling incensed at the indifference of the National Convention of their party to their needs and conditions, most of them will vote the Democratic State ticket as well. But nominate Bryan, and with the prestige such wise and generous action will give the party, it will in all human probability carry the State for local officers. So it will be in Nebraska. In what does the situation differ in Southern States? Men are alike in all; and the same intelligent self-ishness will induce them to act alike in all. "The practical workings of the nomination advised will at once dispel all apprehension of the calamities to the Populis press, Populist prestige, Populist candidate and Populist measures, which Chairmai Taubeneck, in his new-born zeal for a sep arate ticket, so advoitly suggests."

WILL HE DO IT?

The personal friends of Mr. Cleveland have at all times resented the charge of the critics within his own party, that he is selfish and willing to sacrifice either his party or his friends to gratify his ambitions or resentments. They have denied that Mr. Cleveland is willing to exact of other Democrats a higher meas ure of party devotion than he himself is An opportunity of resolving all doubts is now afforded. The Post-Dispatch has already published Mr. Cleveland's letter to Clark Howell of Georgia, an anti-Cleveland delegate in the Chicago Convention of 1892. Mr. Howell, after Cleveland's nomination, accepted that result tending to make the rich richer and the in a spirit of party loyalty and wrote to Cleveland an assurance of support. In response Mr. Cleveland assured Mr. How-ionaire financier will not be privileged ell that such a sacrifice of personal opin-persons before Congressional Commition and acceptance of results is "The underlying principle of party organiza-

SILVER AS LEGAL TENDER.

The Post-Dispatch is in receipt of the following letter which it takes pleasure in answering:

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch. I have just read in your to-day's issue an editorial entitled, "Coined, but Not Remonetized," in which you use these words, referring to silver dollars: "They are not legal tender." I am unwilling to believe that a great journal like the Post-Dispatch would mislead its patrons willingly by making such a statement; therefore, an forced to the conclusion that the write of that article was not aware that the tatement is not true, as silver dollars are a "legal tender," without limit, the same as gold. No cause, however meritorious

No Tariff Agitation.

From the Washington Post. To the tariff sentiment avowed in the Ch cago platform we cordially subscribe. The country-at-large, in our opinion, is averse to the industrial and commercial suspense which will inevitably follow a general agi tation of the tariff question. In recomsupply the deficit and place the Treasury upon a sound and solvent basis, the framers of the Ch'cago declaration have risen to the level of genuine and patriotic statesman-ship. The McKinley act was a lamentable failure. It neither supplied an adequate revenue nor solved the industrial probl Intelligent business men, no matter to what party they may belong, will shrink from a revival of Mr. McKinley's tariff. From the New York Recorder. Much quiet amusement is to be gotten by a Republican reader out of the efforts of certain bolting Democratic organs to treat the Chicago convention as not a representative Democratic gathering. Assertions of this sort will not wash. They are most prevalent in those sections of the country where Davis may be better known to Mr. Kerens than to Mr. Flanigan.

As to Office-Seeking.

From the New York Journal Those newspapers that call Mr. Bryan a "noisy office-seeker" evidently overlook the fact that he has not sought one-fourth the offices Mr. McKinley has pursued; nor has he made one-tenth the noise and eeches in his public career. From the Washington Post.

Some of the McKinley organs have been or have affected to be, blind to the great entral fact of the campaign. While the country has been thinking and talking of else than the silver issue, those organs have been jabbering about the tariff and trying to make themselves believe that was the proper thing to hold up. Over the waist was elipped a beaded bodice of iridescent emerald scales, and a tiny pointed belt of the same carried out the emerald effect.

Iced Tea. The best way to make tea is to put an earthen crock on top of the range; when it is quite warm put into it the necessary amount of tea leaves and pour over it water freshly drawn from the faucet and boiled for the purpose. Let it stand until strong enough, then pour it off gently through a cloth into a pitcher, and when coid set it away until wanted. The best way to cool it is by surrounding it with ice in a freezer, or by setting the pitcher in a bowl of ice. When serving, instead of the usual slice of lemon, a little fruit acid, such as currant julce, tamarind julce and the like, may be used. This kind of tea is refreshing.

As an old neighbor and a life-long rivend and supporter of Hon. R. P. Bland, I feel it my imperative duty to expose a deep-laid scheme to keep Mr. Bland out of Congress and to possibly defeat him and retire him to private life, which doubtless had its origin with the cohorts of Wall street. The writer of this article was present in Chicago when the suggestion was started to run him for Governor and knows it was largely urged by Missourians who had opposed Bland's views on the silver question, yet posing as his friends.

The writer has a letter from Mr. Bland, received the lifth inst., in which he says: "I do not intend to go into the race for Governor, but if nominated shall make the race for Congress and continue the fight for the free coinage of silver in the House of Representatives, if elected, of which I have no doubt. We have gained a great victory in the platform and nominated a good man. It is our duty to do everything in our power to elect him, which I think will be done by a large majority.

"With kind regards for the interest you have taken, I am kruly yours, some prominent papers which a few months past were opposing the sliver cause are editorially urging Bland's name for Governor. The scheme is simply this: to knock out some other good sliver man for Governor and then bring the same influences to bear from the hotbeds of St. Louis and Kansas City that were used against him at Chicago, to defeat him in the election in November.

In conclusion, let me suggest Bland will be nominated and elected to Congress, and can get any position in Mr. Bryan's Cabinet that he would desire, and four years hence the silver cause will be so overwhelmingly strong he would be instructed for by three-fourths of the States, nominated and elected President.

Will They Nominate Bryan? The matter of the indorsement or n

Where, then, shall Populists go for a recruiting field?

To nominate an independent ticket and attempt to gain recruits from the ranks of the two old parties this year is to invite the loss of half the voice we now control. Who among us would be so unwise as to court destruction by a contest with the inevitable.

Then, again, the charge has been made, and off-repeated, and indeed many have believed that the Populist party is made up of disappointed office-seekers and those looking for a "puil" on politicians. Is not this the opportunity to disprove the charge and belie our accusers? It seems to methat we now have the chance to show to the world that Populists are patriots, as well as politicians, and that they place honor above the ambitions of men and principle above a party sum.

tion of Bryan by our convention about to assemble in your city is a perplexing question with Populists. If you will allow me space in your valuable paper I would like to offer a few reasons why I think we will make a serious mistake if we fail to nominate Bryan. Not only do believe it will be a serious party mistake, but it will jeopardize the cause for which we have so long contended. It is a mistaken idea to suppose that free sliver Republicans will vote with the Populists in preference to the Democratic ticket. They are desperately in earnest and are leaving their party on a matter of principle and will naturally gravitate toward the strongest organization which they find going their way. Mrs. Fuchs was 38 years old. She was beight and pretty, and knew more about business in a minute than her husband did in a month. Fuchs admits this and says that she not only ruled the domestic and of the establishment, but had almost complete control of the finances.

She manipulated affairs so well and the business so prospered that Fuchs was quite content and did not complain until Sunday, when she flew the coop and took with her $2.400 and two of the children.

Fuchs said his wife had never done anything to indicate that she was untrue to him till about two weeks ago when he thought it was only a fleeting fancy and never interposed any serious objections. Now he wishes he had.

Sunday afternoon about 3 o'clock Mrs. Fuchs went out for a walk. When her husband returned about 6 o'clock he found a letter on the dresser. He opened it and was shocked at its contents.

She said it was hard to leave her husband and the ohildren, but she loved another and could no longer stay. She did not say where she was going nor did she give any reason for leaving save that she loved another.

After the woman left, Fuchs investigated his cash drawer, and found that his wife had not left empty-handed. There was missing $475 in cash in one package, $355 in another package, one check for $1,000 and another check for $500.

Monday morning Fuchs found that his wife had cashed the $500 check at the Larayette Bank. The $1,000 check she got pashed last Friday by Epstein a Burnstein, liquor dealers.

races. Most of these people think that every horse should perform consistently. They forget that most of the horses now running in the West or in the East for that matter are "dogs" who never run two races alike. In the following interview Judge Carter, the premier racing official of America, and one of the deepest students of the thoroughbred in the country, gives a lucid and entirely proper explanation of the apparently "crooked" running indulged in by the "dogs," which nowadays infest American tracks.

"On every track in the country the form this year has been very bad," says Mr. Carter. "In and out running has been more marked both East and West than in any previous year. The reason is, I believe, the fact that there is but little dass to the horses. I do not know whether it is the fault of breeding or of training, but the American turf has fewer horses of class this year. I was forty days at St. Louis and I can not name five horses stabled there that had class. There are not that number here. There are but few really good horses out this year and the form is consequently inconsfistent."

Class is the real distinction between a good horse and a poor one. By class is out this year and the form is consequently inconsistent."

Class is the real distinction between a good horse and a poor one. By class is meant mainly the ability of a horse to carry his form. It is the distinction between the stake-horse and the selling-plater. I have seen horses give promise in their work of being of stake quality. They have worked fast and handled weight. Put them in a race and they don't run within several seconds of their work. Then a watchful trainer knows that he has not got a stake-horse, but a selling-plater. It is the inability of a horse to carry his form—his lack of class—that makes him a selling-plater. This year the American turf lacks horses of class and there is an unusual amount of in-and-outing. You cannot make selling-platers run consistently; they will beat one another in a surprising manner. It is that very fact that makes them platers. Some of them have the speed of stake horses, but they lack the class and are relegated to the lower division."

Powers has a home at Metropolitan, a town in Northern Michigan, and there his wife and six children are awaiting the word to fly to him for he promised to have them move to the Fitzgerald colony as soon as he established a home. They will never make the trip.

Powers cultivated his little clearing near Metropolitan and worked in the somber pineries close by. It was said that there were seventeen mills in operation, that fruit, cereals and vegetables of all kinds could be raised on the land, that lots and small farms could be won in drawings and there was work and a home for all who came.

"During my stay in the colony I lived with three other men in a 'shack,' which is the name they give down there to shanties made of rough boards. I would not have been employed by the colony if it had been known that I was not a shareholder, and I saw I had no chance. I had S, the amount in my pooket when I arrived, and on July I decided to leave. Many people were sick, stock was dying off and the land yielded nothing but watermelons, gophers and fleas, "Over 150 persons left the day I did. Some walked, others went in wagons and a few sook trains. I rode on a train to Birmingham. Ala, expecting to get work in the mines, but they had closed down. I walked to Cordova. Ala, on the Tennessee River, and there I got work passing coal on a boat. I worked my passage to St. Louis.

ceedings of the Convention.

The Reform Press Association met in the pariors of the St. James Hotel at 2 o'clock Monday. The meeting was a business one, with politics on the side. Paul Vandervorter of Omaha, president of the Industrial League, is also president of the Press Association, and is stopping at the St. James. Capt. Frank Burkett of Okolona, Miss., is vice-president, and is also at the St. James. Edwin I. Burdick of the Chicago Sentinel, and Henry Vincent, editor of Gen. Coxey's paper, are among some of the other leading editors here.

There are about 1,000 papers in the association, and Capt. Burkitt says the editors of fully half of them will be here to take notes on the conventions.

Some of the principal opposition to the indorsement of Bryan comes from the Reform editors. President Vandervorter is being discussed by them as the man to head a third ticket, and Burkitt froths and foams when the indorsement of the Chicago nominees is mentioned in his hearing.

Chicago nominees is mentioned in his hearing.

Capt. Burkith used to be a Bourbon Mississippi Democrat, served a number of years in both branches of the Legislature with ability, but when a damper was thrown over his gubernatorial aspirations he kicked over the traces and joined the Populists, He made a very poor race for Congress against Hernando D. Money two years ago. Later, as a gubernatorial candidate of all factions opposed to Democracy, he was ingloriously defeated.

SHOOTING THE CHUTES.

Did you ever take a lady out to shoot the giddy chutes, when the golden moon was shining like a basketful of fruits? When the air was just so balmy that it made you long to fly through the bright ozone to heaven, without waiting for to die?

When you mount the moving stairway and go sliding to the top of the place from which they "shoot" you, with a sudden jerk and flop, you begin to shake and shiver, for it seems you'd never stop if you ever got to going or they'd chance to let you drop.

When you get beyond the railing to the platform high and wide, and your girl is standing by you with a fear she cannot hide, you recoil with ap-prehension as you view the depths below, and you wonder, when they "dump" you, where the dickens will you go. you go.

When you take your seat beside her in that gaily painted boat, that is apt to be as tricky as a frisky William goat, you are scared into a fidget, for your heart would surely break if they'd have to fish that maiden from the bottom of the lake. with a grip as strong as death, and you make a vain endeavor to re-claim your truant breath, but almost before you know it or have fixed yourself to scoot, they have dumped u o'er the edge and you go shooting yourself to scoot, they have dumped you o'er the edge and you go shooting down the chute.

Faster, faster, ever faster, down that narrow, steep incline! And your hair stands up like bristles on the fretful "porkyswine." Oh! you have that funny feeling, and no pen can picture, quite, half the scenes that cross your vision in that swift and sudden flight.

Rudely does that frantic maiden seize you wheresoe'er she can, happy only in the knowledge she is holding to a man. Oh! you gasp with giddy pleasure, for you think that she's your fruit, and you grab her by the collar as you're shooting down the chute.

when at last you strike the water, When at last you strike the water, death looks certain for you both, and you're glad to find you're living, and you take a solemn oath, that, no matter who the tempter, you would rather stand a bluff than to take the journey over, for one "shoot" is quite enough.

—By the P.-D. Poet.

WANT PACTO,

INSISTS THAT THE POPULISTS MUST INDORSE HIM.

ISSUES A GLOWING TRIBUTE.

Wetern Delegates to the reople's Party Won't Boar to Anything in Favor of McKinley.

By Tuesday there will be 600 Nebraskans in the city, all enthusiastic for Bryan. Sen-ator Allen headed a delegation of 200 which conferring with Mr. Bryan, will bring down another delegation of 400 Tuesday. The members of the delegation which came to-day say that the Populist party of the State is solid for Bryan, and express confidence in his indorsement. "Why shouldn't we indorse Bryan?" said Senator Allen, asking a question in reply to

"It is good policy—the wise and proper thing to do. Mr. Bryan represents three, if not more, of the important Populist doctrines: The free and unlimited coinage of trines: The free and unlimited coinage of silver, the income tax and a revenue tariff. Our indorsement of Bryan gives reasonable hope of success at the polls. With our indorsement, he will win. If we fail to indorse him the logical effect will be the same as if we had indorsed McKinley. Hence, the choice is between McKinley and gold and an abnormally high tariff, and Bryan with free silver, a tariff for revenue, the income tax and other reforms."

"It hink it good. There is a good deal of noisy demonstration in the hotel corriors in opposition, but it amounts to nother the senator expressed the opinion whether are not yet prepared to wholly commit themselves.

Some of the members of the Nebraska delegation, among them Senator Allen, prepared the following statement:

"The Nebraska delegation is a unit for Bryan. They know him well. His life has been a fulfillment rather than a mere promise. We know his high character and eminent fitness for the office of President. He is our neighbor and we are not deceived in him. If elected he will be the greatest man that has occupied the White House since the days of Lincoln, and in his broad and genuine aympathy for the masses he more nearly resembles Mr. Lincoln than any public man we can recall. The nomination of a third ticket would be the exact equivalent of a Senuine indorsement of McKinley, the single gold standard, an abominably high tariff tax, continued gold bond issues, a perpetual national debt, cruel and heartless corporation for the next four years and possibly for all time.

"If elected President Mr. Bryan will

'If elected President Mr. Bryan will know no Democrat, no Populiet, no Republican. There will be no step-children in his political family. All who have been with the great reform forces in the fight will be on equal footing. He will be the people's President. Nebraska is for Bryan."
This enthusiastic statement coming from the Populists of Bryan's own State attracted much attention.

"I can speak highly of the grand effect of Ripans Tabules," says Mrs. B. E. Wood of Sharpsburg, Ky., Nov. 29, 1895. "I was for many years a great sufferer with nervous prostration, and a friend (who had already tested the merita of the Tabules) advised me to try them. I did so, little thinking how much they were going to do for me, but can truly say that they worked a marvelous cure, and I never shall be without them in my house. They are unexcelled for any nervous affection." Editor J. C. Nelson, in commenting upon the above, said: "Mrs. B. E. Wood is the wife of Bruce E. Wood, a tobacco tenant, living three miles from town, and Mrs. M. E. Wood, the wife of her husband's brother, was the friend. She first saw Ripans Tabules advertised in the Bath County World (my paper), buf paid no attention to it until advised to try Ripans Tabules for her own trouble Mr. H. T. Johnson, for whom Mrs. Wood's husband worked, got the Tabules for Mrs. B. E. Wood, at her request, while on a business trip to Cincinnati, because they could not be procured here. Mrs. Wood was extremely nervous, excitable, did not sleep well, very poor appetite, restless, and she says the Tabules removed all these difficulties. She also suffered with pervous headache, which is now unknown to her. Her health, she says, is better than it has been since ten years ago." One Gives Relief.

LEE JOHNSON SAVED BY POLICE-MEN FROM LYNCHING.

HE HAD ASSAULTED A CHILD.

Enraged Brewers Were Preparing to Hang Little Maggie Hermann's Assailant and Fought the Police.

Machinist Lee Johnson had been drinking Sunday morning, but no one at his boarding-house, 2201 Eugenia street, suspected the condition of his mind. He is a lusty, full-blooded man of 35, apparently not

The clothesline was brought, and John-

The clothesline was brought, and Johncon was bound.
"String him up," yelled the mob.
But the leading spirits wanted to make a sure job of it, and they feared the rope was not strong enough.
Hermann and most of the other men in the crowd work at Grone's brewery, near the scene. There were strong ropes at the brewery. A man was sent for one, and Johnson was dragged out of the yard toward a telephone pole. He was bound hand and foot, and had to be hauled along like a eack of salt.
Everybody who could get close enough punched or kicked him, and it looked as though he might be killed before the rope arrived.
He pleaded for marcy, but there was no

He pleaded for mercy, but there was no pity for him. The mob was growing rapidly. The newcomers did not know what the row was, but the blood thirst is easy to rouse on a hot day, and they all clamored for the prisomer's life.

Patrolmen Kennedy and Keany heard the noise and came at a double quick.

Johnson was on the ground when they arrived and screamed piteously for help when he saw the blue coats.

The mob was without organization, and no resistance was offered to the officers under some control of the property of the neighborhood.

As to the charge that he assaulted little Maggie Hermann he claims to know nothing. He said he asked the girl about an outhouse, and she directed him to it. He had no more than entered it, he said than the child's father rushed in and knocked him down.

Johnson has two black eyes and a swollen nose.

The policemen got the prisoner between them and twirling their heavy clubs ominously, moved toward a patrol box at Twenty-second street and Clark avenue.

The mob followed and grew in numbers. Some of the more daring pressed in on the officers and snatched at the prisoner.

The policemen used their clubs rapier fashion, punching their assailants in the ribs and stomachs and pressing steadily on toward the patrol box.

One man threw his arms around Keany's neck and tried to garrote him.

This encouraged the other members of the mob and a rush was made. Both officers were thumped and bruised and Keany lost most of his shirt and part of his coat.

The policemen drew their revolvers and standing back to back with the corwering prisoner between them warned the crowd to stand off.

standing back to back with the cowering prisoner between them warned the crowd to stand off.

There was a sullen roar of anger, and those on the outskirts of the mob urged those in front to knock the officers down. Knocking down a policeman who has a revolver in his hand and is already provoked almost beyond endurance, is not the sort of job that appeals to a man who is close enough to do it, and the inner circle of the mob hesitated.

Private Watchman McIntyre fought his way to the side of the policemen and, as he was also armed, the mob weakened.

Keeping Johnson between them, the three officers formed a hollow square with a brick wall for the fourth side and Johnson in the center.

The mob hooted and cursed and made threats, but no more violence was attempted, and Johnson was conveyed in safety, but badly bruised and worse frightened, in the holdover at the Four Courts.

Patrolman Kennedy returned to Hermann's house and accompanied Maggie and her father to the Dispensary.

Dr. Kearney examined the child and found her unhurt, save for a few bruises on her arms.

adoption of direct legislation through the initiative and the referendum in all our law-making.

Membership—Any voter may become a member by signing the pledge and sending same to Secretary.

Dues—No dues or assessments can be levied on members, and no salaries shall be paid to officers but all expenses are to be met by voluntary contributions.

Declaration—The league shall not take action on any other question than direct legislation.

Pledge—if the candidate of my party for law-maker refuses to publicly pledge himself to direct legislation, then I pledge myself to vote for the candidate of any other party who will so pledge himself.

The Direct Legislation League, though of comparatively recent birth, has already established State Leagues in New York, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Ohio, Michigan, Kaneas, Nebraska, Colorado, California and Georgia.

The following speakers are scheduled for to-morrow night's meeting: Ignatius Donnelly, Alonzo Wardail of the Farmers' Alliance of Topeka, Kan.; Gen. Paul Vandervooro of the Loyal Legion of Omaha, Edward Evans, head of the National Reform party of Tonawanda, N. Y.; A. M. Tood, Secretary of the National party of Kalamasoo, Mich.; Thos. V. Cator, of San Francisco; Charles B. Matthews of Buffalo, N. Y.; William A. Colter, President of the Direct Legislation League of New Jersey.

The members of the league protest their purpose is not to form a new party, but to secure the adoption of their ideas by parties already in existence. One of them said yesterday; "We have carried our fight before all conventions and propose to continue in our work."
The initiative and referendum plan is now in operation in the Swiss Republic. Under its operation the people may not only, by popular vote, suggest legislation, but may kill legislation already accomplished.
The Swiss Republic is composed of twenty-two cantons, having a representation in a House and Senate similar to ours. Any law enacted by them may be subjected to approval by the popular vote, provided eight cantons, or 20,000 voters call for a referendum. Under this system one-sixth of the enacted laws have been submitted to the people and in more than 50 per cent of such instances the vote has been adverse to the DIRECT LEGISLATION -LEAGUE MEETS IN ST. LOUIS TUESDAY. SEEKING BUT ONE OBJECT.

A RICH HUSBAND.

Miss Marie C. Violand Will Go t Mexico and Be Married several weeks ago by Chairman Edward Pomeroy of Newark, N. J. The objects of Next Month.

> Miss Marie C. Violand, the pretty stenog-rapher of Isaac C. Taylor, the architect, who drew the plans for the Convention Aulitorium, will depart for Old Mexico Aug. 1 to become the bride of Mr. George Robinson, a wealthy mine owner, who lives about 200 miles south of the City of Mex-

Miss Violand has resigned her position, and is visiting her relatives in Peoria, Ill., Miss Violand has resigned ner position, and is visiting her relatives in Peoria, Ill., for the purpose of bidding them farewell. Her wealthy fiance in Old Mexico has forwarded the railroad tickets.

There is a bit of romance connected with the proposed wedding, which the friends of Miss Violand are fond of narrating. As the story runs, Mr. Robinson was formerly a resident of St. Louis.

He met and admired Miss Violand, and his affections were reciprocated. He desired to make a fortune with which to provide a splendid home for his love. The opportunity presented itself in Old Mexico. After two years spent in operating a mine he is wealthy.

Recently he wrote to his flancee requesting her to come on to Old Mexico. The mining business was on the boom, and as sole manager he found it impossible to leave.

Miss Violand is a pretty brunette and very popular. When she departs for Mexico next month she will be accompanied by a friend who is employed as a stenographer by the Wabash Railway.

"They have been engaged for two years," said Mr. Taylor. "The knoom-elect struck it rich and Miss Violand falls into a good fortune. She deserves it, for she is one of the most womanly women I know, and that is the biggest compliment you can pay any woman."

places at the head of its platform the following, to be followed by its other demands.

"We demand direct legislation through the initiative and the referendum in local, State and national government. We advocate the following, but are willing to submit these or any other questions advocated by a reasonable minority to a vote of the people interested, and to abide their decision until the people themselves reverse it."

(Here will follow the other planks upon which the convention may agree.)

Delegates have begun to arrive. Among those already here are Ignatius Donnelly, Minneapolis; W. Breen, Omaha; W. H. Bennington, Topeka; Rev. Hiram Vreeman, Baltimore; Nelson O. McClues, Denver; Sheridan Webster, St. Louis; Henry R. Legate, Boston, and Lawrence, J. McParlin, Lockport, N. Y.

There will be three sessions Tuesday, one in the morning, one in the afternoon and another at night. The first two will be devoted to organization. The night session will be a speech-making affair.

The committee that called the convention met yesterday, and among other resolutions agreed upon for submission to the convention were the following:

Resolved, That the president shall appoint a committee of five, no three from the safternoon session, as many committees as there are political conventions assembled, or soon to assemble, in St. Louis, these committees to have not less than three members, who shall be delegates or alternates to the convention to which they woman."

MRS. ANNIE FISHERING NEARLY KILLED BY HER HUSBAND.

LAY UNCONSCIOUS FOR HOURS.

Fishering Says He Was So Drunk When He Did It That He Didn't Know What He Vas Doing.

Mrs. Annie Fishering is at the City Hosternal injuries which may prove fatal. Herman J. Fishering, her husband, went to his home at 705 North Broadway Sunday night, after he had been down the river all day drinking. When he got in the house he ordered his wife to get him something to eat, which she did, and then he stretched himself on the floor and went to sleep.

She let him stay there until 10 o'clock when she awakened him and offered to take his clothes off and put him to bed. He awoke in a rage and chased his wife from room to room until he finally caught her in the kitchen. With a single blow of his fist he knocked her prostrate on the floor. She attempted to scramble to her feet, but he kicked her with his heavy boot in the side and she lay back on the bare floor and implored him not to kill her.

STOPPED HER CONVERSATION.

STOPPED HER CONVERSATION.

O'Neil was shot in the right heel, but, more fortunate than Achilles, was so slightback on the bare floor and implored him not to kill her.

The brute continued his beating, and kicked her about the head and body until she was unconscious.

When she didn't move or cry out any more Fishering stooped over her, pried open the closed eyes and satisfied himself that she was dead.

Then he put on his coat and hurried from the place.

At midnight Mrs. Fishering's sister, who lives next door, saw the light burning in the unhappy home and heard no one moving. She entered the rooms and found her sister, bruised and beaten, lying unconscious in the little kitchen.

The police were notified and Mrs. Fishering was taken to the City Hospital, were Dr. Sutter said she was seriously and perhaps fatally injured, the worst wounds being internal.

Serious results are expected from the delicate condition the woman was in, a fact

The negro attempted to join in the conversation, which was resented by the white men. A quarrel resulted, and the negro applied a vile epithet to Faust. The latter started toward the negro with clenched fist, when the negro stooped and picked up a brickbat. He hurled it at Faust, but the missile went wide of its mark and struck o'Day on the right side of the head.

O'Day fell to the ground unconscious. Dr. W. N. Lowry, of 2618 North Taylor avenue, was called, and pronounced the wound serious. O'Day was taken to the City Hospital.

The negro made his escape. His name is unknown. Mrs. Martin Dooley, 4233 Kemnerly avenue, saw the assault, and says she can identify him.

Five pistol shots fired in rapid succession aroused the neighborhood at Coleman and North Market streets at 10:46 o'clock Sunday night.

They were exchanged by Paddy O'Neil of 2508 Bacon street and Paddy Welch of 1756 North Garrison. Both were drunk and meeting on the corner decided to settle an

He was sentenced to fourteen years the penitentiary. He served but a shime, because, by means of the soap racket, he convinced the authorities that he was dying, and thus secured a pardon.

Welch and O'Neil have been thirsting for each other's gore for some time on account of a quarrel which arose over one of Welch's sisters. Another of his sisters is the wife of Jack Ballard, now in the penisentiary for burglary and larceny.

Saturday hight, July 11, O'Neil was set upon by Welch and his gang at Bacon street and St. Louis avenue, and was carved as beautifully as a Christmas turkey. He had but recently recovered from his lacerations when he met Welch Sunday night and the exchange of builtes was commenced.

After the duel O'Neil walked to his

After the duel O'Nell walked to his home and removed a 32-caliber bullet from his right shoe. Dr. McCabe found that the bullet had been fired downward and entering the opening in the shoe at the top had merely grazed the heel. The shoe had not been injured, which was fortunats, as they are quite new.

Charles Ehrhard of 224 Coleman street heard the shooting and ran down to the corner.

"I wondered who was shooting off fire-crackers this time of the year," said Ehrhard to a Post-Dispatch reporter, "and ran down to investigate it. It was all over when I got there and the men had run away."

O'Nell announced his intention Monday of swearing out a warrant for assault to kill against Welch. But the police can't find Welch. His father, Thomas Welch, who lives at 280 Coleman street, professed entire ignorance of his whereabouts when Sergt Collins and Policeman Shea and Monahan earched the house Monday.

"It would have been a small loss if they'd both heen killed," remarked Welch's father.
